

News

'Autobot' stage for street party

Trailer is 'dressed up' at the workshop and transported by a longer trailer. It is then remotely manoeuvred into position.

Stage is 10m long, 4m high and 4.8m wide.

DIESEL-POWERED BATTERY UNIT
The 335kw power pack will transmit whatever electrical energy is needed.

MODULAR SELF-PROPELLED TRAILER

SPEED: 20kmh
PAYLOAD: 8-9 tonnes
POWER SUPPLY: Runs on power pack.

13m

2.4m

UNIQUE AXELS
Wheels can turn 360 deg and they can move in all eight compass directions.

EVENT HIGHLIGHTS

Performing DJs

DJ Andrew Chow, DJ Sarasa and VDJ Ta-shi will be spinning.

DJ Sarasa aka Silverboombox, is one of the most acclaimed DJs in Japan and is known for her strong stage presence. She will be accompanied by four girls from CyberJapan, a popular Japanese dance group.

DJ Andrew Chow and rapper Dandee from Thailand will start the night at 11.15pm with a special 40th anniversary performance for PAYM.

Tri-crew Best of Asia

The finals of this invitation-only dance competition will be held from 11.20pm.

The winner gets a cash prize of $3,000.

DJ Protege

This nation-wide competition gives youths aged 18 to 35 an opportunity to showcase their turntable skills.

The winner for this year's competition will take the stage at 11.50pm.

Advance ticket sales ended yesterday.

Partygoers can get their tickets at the door for $28. One complimentary drink will be given with every ticket bought.

REMOTE CONTROL
To control the trailer, an operator straps on this device.

CITY Alive! 2011, Singapore's largest street dance party, is happening tonight.

Organised by the People's Association's Youth Movement (PAYM) in conjunction with its 40th anniversary celebrations, the party starts at 11pm at the F1 Pit Building, right after the Chingay Parade.

The mobile stage, a 10m long trailer, features sound, light and visual equipment to convert the street into a mega dance floor.

- Amanda Phua

OTHER APPLICATIONS

Transporter

Exhibition display stage